When Royal Mail say "Business Partner", that's exactly what we mean. Our HR Business Partners play a pivotal role, right alongside business leaders, in driving major structural change within an enviable, globally recognised brand. The Royal Mail Group comprises the Post Office, Royal Mail Letters and Parcelforce Worldwide. We offer HR professionals genuinely influential and results driven roles in a highly dynamic environment.

Sharing accountability with new Management Teams, you will deliver significant organisational and cultural change. Actively contributing to strategic plans and targets, you will offer support and appropriate challenge to your Senior Management Team and develop innovative solutions to deliver change through employee engagement.

You will possess excellent influencing and communication skills that enable you to work in partnership and make a positive impact at all levels. You will be able to gain credibility through your extensive knowledge of leading edge people practices, coupled with a collaborative and developmental style. You will be a Senior HR Practitioner with a strong track record of delivering change in a large, complex organisation coupled with the passion and resilience to achieve results. As a team player you will recognise the value of achieving results through people and will balance this with a high degree of ownership that allows you to thrive on taking personal responsibility.

Whilst our results to date are impressive in improving the workplace, our profit and customer service standards, we do not underestimate the scale of sustaining this momentum. If you have the drive to help make this challenge your own, please send your CV to our retained consultants HRi at cv@hri.co.uk For more information about Royal Mail, please visit our website at www.royalmail.com
